

Contents

Templates download/Subpages

This template can be integrated into every wiki page using the editor toolbar. It generates a list of subpages of a wiki page. You can create a single or multi-column layout, with or without bullets.

The screenshot shows a 'Download' dialog box with a 'Subpages' tab. On the left, there is a list of subpages: CEO, Office Manager, Sales Manager, Support Manager, and Technical support assi. A large arrow points from this list to the configuration form on the right. The form includes a 'Cancel' button, an 'Apply changes' button, and a warning message: 'There might be some additional information about the "Subpages" template on its page.' The form fields are: 'Namespace' (IMS), 'Parent page *' (Role definitions list), 'Column layout' (no), and 'Bullet points' (yes).

Importing the template

The import file is included in the archive file HW-subpages.zip. Unpack the zip file first.

On the page Special:Import follow these steps:

1. Select file and choose HW-subpages.xml.
2. Enter an Interwiki prefix. Since this field is required, simply add hw (for hallowelt).
3. Keep the selection Import to default locations.
4. Click Sie Upload file...

The template is now available in your wiki.

Usage

Insert the template Subpages with VisualEditor. Provide the settings for the list:

Field	Description
Namespace	Namespace in which the parent page is located. Leave blank for the main namespace.
Parent page	The wiki page that has the subpages.
Column layout	no = flat list; yes = 3-column layout
Bullet points	yes = bulleted list; no = list without bullet points

Pages included in the import

---

The xml import creates the following file in your wiki:

- Template:Subpages
- Template:Subpages/styles.css